Identity Activation Questions

1. If you had to give a description of who you are, what would that description be? Write down or draw a picture of what your description would be.
2. Ask God how He would describe you and write down or draw a picture of what He says.
3. Does your description of yourself differ in any way from God's description of you? If so, ask God to show you how to reconcile your perspective to His truth. Write down or draw a picture of what He reveals to you.
4. Ask God what action steps He would like you to implement into your life beginning this week in order to begin walking in who He says you are. Write down or draw a picture of what He says.

Daily ponder what God has spoken over you through these questions and keep a journal of what God spoke to you each day concerning your identity.

5. Write down or draw a picture of what was easy and what was hard about shifting your view of yourself.

6. Give God praise for all progress made throughout this week, and press in for more understanding and revelation in the areas that were hard.

7. If there have been some hard areas (which I am sure there are) ask God if you are believing a lie about yourself or about Him, and if so what is the lie, and what is the truth. Write down or draw a picture of what He reveals to you.

8. Turn that truth into a confession and begin speaking the truth over yourself whenever the lie tries to creep back in. Write down or draw a picture of what you hear or see.

At the end of this week (Monday) ask yourself these questions.

9. What did I learn about my identity this week?

10. What action steps am I going to take this week in order to continue growing in my identity?
